DESTINATION LEARNING EXPERIENCES

IT'S ALL IN THE DETAILS...

- If planning your own educational tour (a full buy-out), you may select any cities within the U.S. for your tour. When combining resources with other preferred partners and sharing the mobile lab tour, Gather Educational Services will select cities in urban areas that offer a higher concentration for physician attendance for your training and education sessions.

- Once you have confirmed and conveyed your targeted list within a specific city area, Gather will assist in prospect invitations, follow up, and confirmation on your behalf.
- Sharing lab resources with other device companies (your preferred partners), you will be allocated a certain block of time for your selected speaker to share relevant details about your products and their influence on the procedure/s demonstrated that day, prior to the lab training.
- Each company may have one proctor, instructor or sales representative per table purchased to demonstrate and work with your guests inside the lab.
- Gather will plan all hospitality components to ensure that your training experience is comfortable and seamless. We select the hotel where the mobile lab will park, food and beverage, and confirm all aspects of the lab to meet your specific training needs. As expert event planners, our detailed itineraries will ensure that networking opportunities are maximized for your trainees. Gather firmly believes that medical education needs to exit the day-long lecture hall.
- In general, sessions run 4 hours and the opportunity to have two courses in one day is feasible, given the demand.
- Additional video compilation of your session is available to capture important coursework to revisit, share within your organization or for future physician training.
